The event was held on 4th November 2022, at Information Technology

Department, Goa College of Engineering Farmagudi.

On this occasion 'The Blood Man of Goa' Mr. Sudesh Narvekar, CEO Sarthak Foundation who has donated blood more than 100 times and still continues with his Nobel work, was felicitated by the NSS unit of Goa College of Engineering at the hands of Principal Dr. R B Lohani, and NSS Chief Program officer Prof. Ganesh V Manerkar, Asst. Professor in Information Technology, GEC.

The Inaugural function began at 11:15 am at the IT department auditorium in the presence of Mr. Sudesh Narvekar, CEO Sarthak Foundation, Dr. Vikash Kumar from RG hospitals, Dr. Sujay Mishra, ASG Eye hospitals, Dr. Sanjay Corgaonkar, GMC blood bank & Mr Vinod Chimulkar President Sarthak Foundation .

NSS Chief program officer Prof. Ganesh Manerkar welcomed the gathering and gave a brief overview about the functioning of the NSS unit. He also highlighted and appreciated 'The blood Man ' Mr Sudesh Narvekar who has donated blood for 100 times in Goa, and said that NSS Volunteers should take inspiration from Mr. Sudesh Narvekar as National Service Schemes MOTO is "NOT ME BUT YOU" and serve in nation building with your selfless services.

Principal of GEC Dr. R B Lohani addressed the gathering by sharing his experiences and highlighting the importance of blood and organ donation.

The inauguration program ended with vote of thanks by Prof Aisha Fernandes, Associate Professor at IT department, GEC. The inaugural function was compered by Ms Kashifa Sayed and Ms Jovita Lourenco.

All the 3 camps had a full-fledged response from the faculty members, non-teaching staff and students of the college. The camp was a huge success because of the selfless contribution by the NSS volunteers under the guidance of Prof Ganesh V Manerkar and Prof Melina Maria Afonso.
